Mehr, a third-year engineering student, is woken up by a late-night call from her boyfriend, who tells her about a music video he had posted of her friend, Aditya, which had gone viral. More than the song, it was the story of Aditya's dead girlfriend that garnered attention. Aditya was an introvert who was called as the year-back student. He was known for his suspension from college and stories about his dead girlfriend, Meerika. Mehr, who is in love with him, is curious to know how a meritorious student, who loved music, his friends, and Meerika, got so lost. But is Aditya ready to move on? Will he ever realise Mehr's love for him? Will he discover what his true calling is? And will he have the courage to pursue his passion over his parents' dreams? And where is Meerika? Is she really dead?

This book tells the story of a person who was born in India under the British rule & grew up in independent India. The story covers the circumstances which forced poverty on him when he was fourteen & still he managed to secure a first division in matriculation. After passing out from his college, he followed the British to their country for four years for further studies. When the Indian youth was queuing to go west for better opportunities, he after having failed to improve his academic or financial status to the level he had desired swam against the current to his mother land, never to look back. The story continues to tell how back in India his contemporaries assisted / resisted him in his prolonged struggle to succeed & how he unwillingly laid down his tools to settle just behind the place of his wok. Apart from his inclinations towards the British, the story dwells on his views, on the futility of Indian partition on the basis of religion, on his aversion to Indian governance/ politics & on his philosophical musings. It also gives an interesting account of the wayside anecdotes during his journey thus far.

A Journey through the Jeevitha Nauka by Haridasan T.M., narrates his experiences in life and brings out the importance of the nature driven and man-made evolution of the generation gap and the consequent cultural variations in human life. These changes are essential for our development, and to make this development sustainable, humanity should be ready at different age levels to make self-generated reforms in their mindsets and lifestyles. The author attempts to reveal how he made his experiments to approach this goal. From non-electrified dwelling in a rural hamlet, his journey to his present day life in a modern apartment in a bustling city met many rough and smooth paths. The various roles in his life, as a child, a dutiful son, a loving husband and father, along with being an affectionate grandparent in the home front, and as a student, teacher, researcher, administrator, social reformer and scientific consultant in the professional front gave him an opportunity to become a humane human being and responsible citizen. His revelations, it is hoped, would generate a sense of a rededication in our youth for shaping a glowing harmonious society.

The book brings alive day to day living experiences of author prior to 1990 in the picturesque valley of Kashmir. Within each such experience is a straightforward account of the valley's charms and challenges alike. Each such experience is drawn up as a commoner across a diverse range of some interesting domains.
